

Just A Touch - Life Group Questions

1. Pastor Dan began his message talking about the importance of relationships. Our relationship with God and others are the foundational aspects of what our lives are meant to be all about. As the weeks continue what changes (for good or bad) are you seeing in your relationship with Jesus and others?
2. Tragic brokenness often leads to fervent prayer. Can you share about a time when brokenness in your life led you to pursue God in prayer?
3. Pastor Dan went on to say that chronic brokenness leads to walls. Walls toward people, walls of shame, walls of discouragement and doubt, wall that divide but don't really protect. What are some of the walls that you have built in your life (whether now or in the past)? Why did you build them?
4. Read Mark 5:27-33. This woman had been experiencing 12 years of suffering and sickness. She heard about Jesus. She came to see Jesus. And she pushed through the crowd to touch Him and everything changed. She never gave up hope. Is there a specific situation in your life where you're being tempted to give up?
5. Do you believe that your brokenness, your area of need, might be used by God to pursue your heart? How might God be using this time of isolation to draw people to Himself? If God is working this way how should we, as the Church, respond?
6. Only Jesus can lift the quarantine of a person's heart. Only Jesus can break down every wall with a single touch. So the question becomes; is Jesus the primary pursuit of your heart right now? If not, what might need to change so that He is?
7. One day almost everything is going to go back to normal. Everyone will be heading to work most mornings, sports will be back on the TV, and lives will be overly full. Which means that today may have more opportunity for us to love, serve, and be present than many others to come. How can we take advantage of today?

Take some time to pray for each other; specifically regarding how people answered #4 and #6.
